LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MLA inspects poor condition of PDS shop on Rameswaram Street

Sir, Following several complaints by T. Nagar Residents' Welfare Association, V.P. Kalairajan (T. Nagar MLA) and Rajendran (Asst. Commissioner, Civil Supplies) inspected the bad condition of the PDS shop numbers HC007 and HC009 functioning out of a single cramped premises on Rameswaram Road (T. Nagar) on Oct. 6. They interacted with the cardholders outside the shop, who poured out their grievances. They told Kalairajan that the pathway leading to the shop is always littered with garbage and the sideways are used as a public urinal. They also complained that the shop has only one staff member and does not have enough space to store the monthly stocks, forcing the cardholders to come several times. Rajendran told the Association that the Department has planned to demolish the existing building and erect a new structure. He assured the cardholders that more helping hands will be deployed at the shop to speed up the transactions. Kalairajan assured to take quick action to resolve the problems. – T. Nagar Residents' Welfare Association, 30, Rangan Street, T. Nagar

Water logging after light rains on Brindavan Street

Sir, Even after the light showers on Oct. 6, Brindavan Street (West Mambalam) got flooded. It reflects the poor condition of the storm water drainage system on the street. It is a busy road and the drivers, especially the 2-wheeler riders, struggled to maneuver their vehicles. It also led to severe traffic congestion. I appeal to Chennai Corporation to de-silt the drains and clear the inlets to avoid water logging in the future. – V. Venkatakrishnan, 43, Brindavan Street, West Mambalam

Sewage water leaking into well and Metrowater sump

Sir, Sewage water has mixed with well and Metrowater at my house on Neelakanta Mehta Street (T. Nagar). The water has become unusable even for washing clothes and vessels. There is a high level of stench which has now also become a health hazard. I am forced to buy water privately to offset the daily needs. Metrowater officials are not responding to my complaints. I once again appeal to the Metrowater officials to conduct an inspection and set right the problem. — Vasu, 20/44, Neelakanta Mehta Street, T. Nagar, Ph: 81481 12590

MTC should ply non-a/c buses from T. Nagar to Kancheepuram

Sir, Presently MTC runs only air-conditioned buses between Kancheepuram and T. Nagar on Route 576 which takes a circuitous route probably to make the service more profitable. The travel time extends beyond two hours. It should either ply non-a/c buses between T. Nagar and Kancheepuram via the shorter Tambaram-Padapai route to reduce the commuting time or extend some of the T. Nagar-Padapai route services up to Kancheepuram. – V.S. Jayaraman, 31, Motilal Street, T. Nagar

Beggar menace outside temples

Sir, After beggar menace was reported outside popular temples, the authorities took action to remove them. However in the past few months they have again started to file outside temple entrances and harass the devotees. They also dirty the surroundings of the holy places. Ayodhya Mandapam has also erected a board outside asking beggars to keep away, but to no effect. Further, the approach roads to some of the temples like Shirdi Sai Baba Temple and Ashok Nagar Anjaneyar Temple are in a bad condition. I appeal to the authorities to lay concrete roads near temples and also put a stop to the beggar menace. — Dr. Chidambara Kumarasamy, No. 40 (Old No. 71), 53rd Street, Ashok Nagar

Lane near Ranganathan Street encroached upon by shops

Sir, The small lane between Ranganathan Street and Natesan Street (T. Nagar) which links Usman Road with Rameswaram Road, providing a short route to Mambalam Railway Station, is encroached upon. It has also become a hub for anti-social activities, especially during night. Chennai Corporation workers some years ago had removed a number of unauthorized shops occupying the lane. But these shops later came back within a short period. As there is no proper lighting in the street which remains dark during nighttime, miscreants utilize the lane for consuming liquor and pursuing illegal activities. One cannot walk on this lane as it is always littered with empty liquor bottles, rubbish and plastic waste. I appeal to the police and Corporation officials to rid the lane of the vendors and anti-social elements so that it can be used safely by pedestrians. — S.R. Radhakrishnan, T. Nagar

Will Corporation clarify issues raised on extending Usman Road flyovers?

Sir, If there are misgivings about the proposal to extended Usman Road flyovers to connect Mahalingapuram with Anna Salai, these arise from the poor track records of our civic body's expertise in designing and execution of some of the existing flyovers. The questions raised are out of genuine fears and in all fairness the civic body should give unambiguous clarifications for the points raised. — S. Rajagopalan, Anandan Street, T. Nagar

Residents unhappy with flyover expansion plan

By Our Staff Reporter

T. Nagar and Mambalam residents appear not to be in favour of the proposed plan to connect Mahalingapuram with Anna Salai by merging the North and Usman Road flyovers and extending it up to Anna Salai.

Residents say the issues will be compounded if the plan materialises. There are four major woes – further narrowing of service lanes, no space of fire tenders in case of emergencies, increase in encroachments and restricting movement of residents.

"If these two flyovers are merged, what the Corporation will construct will be the closure of T Nagar," said a resident.

T. Nagar Residents' Association members said that residents of streets abutting Usman Road will have problems in crisscrossing. "Encroachment beneath the flyovers will hit road users badly," they said. "Commuters will not be able to alight at intermediary stops like T. Nagar Bus Stand, Viveks, Bharati Nagar or Bazulla Road," they added.

She is the granddaughter of late Nataka Kavalar R.S. Manohar, a well known thespian who had acted in a number of popular Tamil plays and movies.

Pawnbroker identifies suspect in Babyammal's murder

Police have managed to zero in on Babyammal's murderer after a pawnbroker identified the suspect and surrendered the stolen jewellery.

Babyammal's dead body was found in a room in Tamilnadu Saliyar Mahaana Sangam Lodge where she used to deliver breakfast everyday. It was last occupied by a person named Saravanan and his family from Madurai.

Saravanan (25), the prime suspect in the Sept. 21 murder of food vendor D. Babyammal (70), pledged the stolen gold for Rs. 65,000 with a pawnbroker in West Mambalam after the crime.

After Babyammal's body was recovered on Sept. 25, police released Saravanan and his family member's photographs to the media. Pawnbroker Thukka Ram, with whom the murderer had pledged the jewellery, after seeing Saravanan's photo on the media, handed over the jewellery to the police and also confirmed Saravanan's identity.

Police said that Babyammal's daughter Vijayalakshmi identified that the stolen jewellery belonged to her mother.

Police are still hunting for Saravanan and his family members.
