Elderly sisters found murdered

By Our Staff Reporter

Jayalakshmi (75) and her sister Kamakshi (72) (residents of 39, K. R. Koil Street, West Mambalam) were found strangled in their rented house on May 11. The bodies were discovered by their domestic help Kanniammal. The almirah and cupboards were found ransacked. The jewels the women had been wearing were also missing.

The sisters used to live on Dhanapal Street and moved to the rented flat on K. R. Koil Street two years ago.

Jayalakshmi Kamakshi

The women did not respond to the calls of the person delivering milk who left without leaving the milk.

According to police, Kanniammal came to work around noon and found the front door bolted from outside. She entered and found Jayalakshmi lying on the floor in the hall. When she went to the kitchen she found Kamakshi lying in a pool of blood on the floor. She alerted the neighbours who called the police. The maid had been engaged a month ago.

Kamakshi, who had obtained an M. Sc. degree from Calcutta University, had worked as a chemist in King's Institute of Preventive Medicine, Guindy and sought voluntary retirement in 1994. She had earlier obtained a science degree from Queen Mary's College, Chennai.

Jayalakshmi had been married to Venkataraman but they had divorced.

According to police, neighbours claimed to have seen the women wearing a lot of jewellery on a few occasions. The jewellery was missing. 5 special teams have been formed to investigate the case. Fingerprints were lifted from the house. A sniffer dog ran some distance and gave up the scent.

Police are examining the records of phone calls made/received by the victims through the landline.

They did not appear to have mobile phones. Police collected a number of mobile and landline numbers from a personal diary.

Police suspect that the murders might have taken place between 5 p.m and 8 p.m on May 10 as they found dough kneaded to make chapathis in the kitchen. According to police, the women were known to open the door only after making sure who the visitor was. They suspect that someone known to the women might have murdered them.
