Felicitated for presenting mime show on environmental issues

The members of Jothi Madar Sangam (Sukalayam, 70/44, Burkit Road, T. Nagar) were felicitated by Women's India Association for presenting a mime show on environmental issues on June 5 in Theosophical Society, Adyar.

They used gestures, expressions and movements to create awareness about the harmful effects of using plastic bags, cloth napkins, smoking, unhygienic food and its preparation, waste management and other environment related issues.

The Sangam conducts such awareness programs regularly in public venues, educational institutions, corporate houses and clubs. For more details, call 98411 58018.

Cartoon exhibition in Thanikachalam Road today and tomorrow

By Our Staff Reporter

Sketches, cartoons and caricatures drawn by T. S. Narayanaswamy (resident of 1, Thirumurthy Street, T. Nagar) will be exhibited from 10 a.m to 9 p.m, on Saturday, June 10 and Sunday, June 11 in A Painters Garden Art Gallery (16/33, Thanikachalam Road, T. Nagar).

The exhibition will be inaugurated jointly by Keshav (Senior Cartoonist, The Hindu), Dr. Mohan Rajan (Eye surgeon) and Vasanth S. Sai (Film Director).

Narayanaswamy hails from a family of writers, journalists and cartoonists. He had won the 'Best Student Journalist' award in 1980 from Ananda Vikatan (a leading Tamil weekly). After his college days, he became a marketing professional and could not pursue his passion for sketching cartoons. After almost 35 years, he rediscovered his passion for sketching and cartooning in 2016.

He told Mambalam Times that his pencil sketches and direct sketching on the iPad, were well received when he posted them on social media.

"That gave me encouragement to take it up a little seriously and within a year I had drawn more than 60 sketches and cartoons on various topics", he said.

Blood donation program tomorrow

By Our Staff Reporter

Sri Suprabhata Sabha (10/6 Baroda 2nd Street West Mambalam) has organized its annual blood donation drive from 9 a.m to 1 p.m on Sunday, June 11 in its premises.

After Usman Road flyover has been closed to traffic due to the ongoing demolition of Chennai Silks building, Burkit Road has been made 2-way.

Vehicles coming on Madley Road or on Usman Road from Anna Salai side are diverted via Burkit Road.

TNRWA to help residents affected by Chennai Silks fire

By Our Staff Reporter

T. Nagar Residents' Welfare Association has taken up the cause of helping residents living in the vicinity of Chennai Silks to get due compensation for the health and other travails faced by them due to the major fire and the subsequent demolition of the building.

Following the fire accident in Chennai Silks, the residents, particularly those who stay in the nearby streets, have had to encounter numerous problems.

A senior member of the Association told Mambalam Times that the residents' day-to-day life has virtually come to a standstill. Many have had to leave their homes/apartments for safety reasons and have had to put up with inconvenience.

Even after the fire was extinguished, the residents have been unable to return to their homes because of the ongoing demolition of the fire-ravaged building.

Because of the emission of thick smoke when the building was on fire, the residents have had to suffer from severe cough, breathing problems, eye irritation and other related ailments.

Even if the residents feel that the worst is over, one cannot rule out anything now as the smoke that gets emitted from burning of synthetic material is harmful and can pollute the environment for a long time. The dust allergy arising out of the demolition work is equally serious and could cause various ailments.

So, the Association has decided to reach out to the residents who are in distress or have been distressed by the accident.

It has requested the residents in general and those affected by the accident, to write to it giving full details of their suffering due to the fire and thereafter and also due to the ongoing demolition work.

The Association will consolidate the details and take up the matter with the authorities concerned and even move the court, if necessary, for compensation.

Residents can send details giving name, full address, mobile number/e-mail id to T. Nagar Residents' Welfare Association, 30, Rangan Street, T. Nagar, e-mail: tngarresidents@gmail.com.

Eye, throat infection ails police, firemen

By Our Staff Reporter

More than 250 policemen and firemen involved in the demolition work of Chennai Silks building have complained of eye and throat infection.

While a majority of them were men in khaki, a few workers who were involved in the demolition work also approached health officials with minor injuries.

A 15-member medical team from Chennai Corporation has been camping at the site providing immediate medical help.

The medical team has been attending to the men in khaki with complaints of minor health issues like infection in the throat and eyes, severe cough and small injuries.

Health officials said that it was due to their continuous exposure to the thick black smoke from the fire and dust from the demolition work.

"Some workers who were close to the building got injuries due to glass pieces that fell from the building," a health official said.

Work suspended as debris crashes at site of demolition

By Our Staff Reporter

The demolition of The Chennai Silks showroom in T. Nagar, which was destroyed in a fire last week, had to be stopped briefly after a large chunk from the top portion of the building crashed on the evening of June 7. No one was injured in the incident.

The top portion of the building fell when a jaw-cutter was working its way around. The debris fell in a cloud of smoke and created panic among the workers. Since the fire, the area has been cordoned off and residents evacuated from the nearby buildings, and the shops in the vicinity ordered to remain closed.

A police officer said that the debris fell on a hydraulic pipe used by the machine and started a leak. The demolition was stopped for around 40 minutes and workers cleaned and repaired the hydraulic pipe to avoid further accidents due to the leak.

Fire and rescue services had said the demolition would be completed in two days. However, the contractor who is engaged in the work said it would take another week before it could be pulled down. As the structure is damaged in the fire that raged for two days, pulling it down can only be done gradually.

Fire/demolition affects shops near Chennai Silks

As per reports, the total estimated loss for Chennai Silks due to the fire is around Rs. 700 crores.

According to Vellayan (President, Tamil Nadu Traders Association), the estimated loss does not include the losses of all the shops/business houses, estimated at more than 100 in the vicinity, that had remained closed for three days after the fire. Some continue to remain closed as the demolition of the ravaged building is in progress.

He said that the Traders Association held a meeting with various authorities for the early opening of the shops.

"Even after opening, the footfalls have been poor as customers have preferred to stay away for safety reasons due to the ongoing demolition of the building", he added. Many of the shop owners in the close vicinity of Chennai Silks have reported that huge pieces of construction debris from the building which is under demolition are falling on their shops.

Some owners have retrieved their valuables from the shop and have decided to down the shutters till the demolition is completed.

"Our shops are getting damaged. We are not sure if we will be able to start business again. We hope to salvage at Otherwise, it would lead to a collapse that may endanger other buildings in the vicinity," said an official.

The fire first broke out around 4.30 a.m on May 31 and gutted the building but flames continued to be seen in various parts of the structure in the following days, delaying the demolition process.

Usman Road flyover is still out of bounds for vehicles in view of the safety concerns.

Teams to check buildings for property tax violation

By Our Staff Reporter

Residents and traders who have constructed unauthorised buildings are under the scanner, as the Chennai Corporation has taken the initiative to trace property tax revenue loss.

The Corporation has started inspection of buildings in several parts of Chennai including 10,414 buildings in ward 136 in T. Nagar, measuring the structures, compiling data on total built-up area and other town planning parameters.

The data will be compared with the database of the Chennai Corporation Revenue Department that collects property tax, trade license and company tax. "The data on additional floors or unauthorised construction will be used to estimate the actual revenue loss of property tax," said an official.

The civic body has engaged a private firm to take the measurements.

The Chennai Corporation will also use GIS mapping of the private buildings, in addition to survey by the teams.

Free workshop on 'Mind Mapping' for students tomorrow

K. Shanmugasundaram (Soft skill trainer) will conduct a free workshop on 'Mind mapping and learning techniques' for students in the age group of 5 to 15 years from 10 a.m to 12.30 p.m on Sunday, June 11 in Circle Library, 11th Avenue, Ashok Nagar. More details can be had in 2371 9319 and 98418 82138.

Minor fire in hotel doused

By Our Staff Reporter

A fire was reported in a three-star hotel on North Usman Road at around 6 p.m on June 4. Fire tenders rushed to the spot and doused it within five minutes.

According to an official, the fire had started in the boiler exhaust due to presence of oil sediments, but they reached the spot and doused it before it could spread.

No one was injured.

Minor fires reported in Chennai Silks showroom under demolition

By Our Staff Reporter

Even as the Chennai Silks showroom is being demolished, minor fires are being reported in small pockets.

However, in the evening of June 3, as preparations were underway to begin the demolition work, a big fire suddenly erupted in one corner on the 3rd floor, but was brought under control within an hour.

According to fire officials, the reason for the fire was a combination of excessive heat and the inflammable stock-in-trade still left behind.

But they said that since June 6, no incidents of fire have occurred and the demolition work is in progress.

Social media trolls T. Nagar as 'Thee' Nagar

By Our Staff Reporter

The fire that consumed The Chennai Silks building on Usman Road was fodder for online trolls which dubbed T. Nagar as 'Thee' (fire) Nagar.

On the ground level as well, there was an immediate impact as the week since the fire incident has seen a much fewer footfalls of shoppers.

Ranganathan Street, which is usually abuzz with shoppers, poses an empty look.

Even in further away Pandy Bazaar area, business has been lukewarm according to shop staff.

A senior member of the local traders' association told Mambalam Times that it is a knee-jerk reaction of the public, and normalcy will return in a couple of weeks.

The incident has also ignited the anger among the neighbourhood residents who have long been complaining about the lax control over the implementation of safety norms in the commercial complexes.

Many took to Whatsapp, Facebook and other such social media sites to vent their anger and express their opinion.

Amma Theater, Amma Market projects may not take off

By Our Staff Reporter

Two major projects, Amma Theater and Amma Market, announced two years back, are yet to take off.

Locations were identified for an Amma Theater in T. Nagar and Amma Market in Ashok Nagar.

According to official sources, the reasons were aplenty including administrative delays and the subsequent death of former Chief Minister J. Jayalalithaa, and current ministers losing interest in the projects.

It has also been said that the widening deficit caused by many welfare schemes was another reason for the government's plan to shelve the projects.

19-year-old writes second book of fiction

By Our Staff Reporter

19-year-old Karthik Sreeram Kannan (resident of 8, V.D. Loganathan Street, K. K. Nagar, Ph: 98840 94167) has authored his second fiction novel 'Across the Silent Sands'.

It has been published by notionpress.com.

The novel is also a psychological thriller and is about an ex-army man convicted of murder, a serial killer and the skill of an investigating woman officer. According to Karthick, the novel is all about a determined woman, two sensational murder cases and how a human mind can surprise and shock us all.

He is studying to become a Chartered Accountant.

He wrote his first novel, 'The Ashes of Prey', when he was 16.

He has also authored and published three books of short stories titled 'The 15 days', 'Whispers from the future' and 'Beyond borders'.

He is associated with screenplay writing, direction and editing.

He has directed short films and skits.

Inspector's availability time displayed in police stations

By Our Staff Reporter

A day after Chennai City Police Commissioner A. K. Viswanathan ordered the inspectors to be available at their respective stations at least two to three hours daily to meet complainants, 418 complaints have been received in police stations across the city of which 23 were lodged in neighbourhood police stations.

The time of the inspector's availability has been displayed on the notice board in all police stations within city limits.

Wrong side driving rampant on Y-shaped flyover

By Our Staff Reporter

Wrong side driving by autorickshaws and 2-wheelers is rampant on Bazullah Road Y-shaped flyover.

Drivers ignore the 'No-entry' rule and turn right from Bazullah Road into the flyover towards Kodambakkam oblivious of vehicles coming on the flyover from the opposite side.

Even the 'No-entry' sign board is missing at the entrance to the flyover at Bazullah Road junction.

Will the traffic officials take immediate action to install a 'No-entry' signboard and also take strict action against drivers of vehicles violating the rule?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Chennai Silks owners irresponsible

Sir, As per media reports, the owners of the Chennai Silks showroom, which was gutted in a fire accident on May 31, have blamed the fire department for delayed action. One of the owners stated that if it had acted swiftly, the devastation would have been minimal. While they were worried about the loss due to the fire and the fate of stock-in-trade including clothes and jewellery, they do not seem to be even a wee-bit concerned of the possible loss of lives had the accident taken place during peak hours and the lack of fire safety systems in the establishment which was the cause for the fire.

He further stated that the violations were not deliberate which, in itself, is an admission that there were violations. If the violations were not deliberate, how did they extend the floors which the CMDA had demolished earlier? Had the damage been minimal, the owners would have resumed the business after renovating the structure and the authorities would never have thought of demolition, violations notwithstanding.

The authorities should be thankful to God for having destroyed the building constructed with gross violations, resulting in its total demolition, which they would never have dared to think of, leave alone acting on these lines.

The fire accident must be taken as yet another warning and the authorities must now wake up from their slumber and act with an iron hand against those buildings which have come up in gross violation of safety norms.

As per the strictures of the High Court, the Fire Department is supposed to display boards warning the public about the lack of fire safety systems in each of these buildings. Is this being done? Lastly, the public must be wary of shopping in complexes which do not have proper systems so as to safeguard their lives. K. Harihar, T. Nagar

Firewood stocked near ration shops poses danger

Sir, There is a danger of the two ration shops HC-007 and HC-009 located off Rameswaram Road, T. Nagar, going up in flames if no action is taken against the jewellery/textile chain which makes it a practice of stocking firewood close to the shops.

The chain has a property close by, where it runs a canteen and provides accommodation for its staff. They use firewood for cooking and the vast public space to park their vehicles which come very often to unload material.

Most of the time card holders find it difficult to enter the shops because of the blockade of public space by the vehicles. V.S. Jayaraman, Motilal Street, T. Nagar

Renowned Sanskrit scholar Ramanuja Tatacharya passes away

Ramanuja Tatacharya, the renowned Sanskrit scholar who was closely associated with Sri Ahobila Math Samskrita Vidya Abiva-rdhini Sabha (117, K. R. Koil Street, West Mambalam), passed away on June 5 in Mumbai.

He was 90 years old and had been closely associated with the activities of the Math.

He was twice honoured by the Math under the President ship of His Holiness Srimad Andavan, who had studied under Ramanuja's father. Ramanuja got the Padma Bhushan award from Govt. of India in 2016, for his outstanding contribution in the field of Sanskrit. He was also the recipient of the Chevalier of Légion d'Honneur in 2011, the highest civilian honour of France.

He was a researcher in the French Institute of Pondicherry and a former Vice Chancellor of the Kendriya Sanskrit Vidyapeeth, Tirupati.

E-magazine section opens in Circle Library

An exclusive E-Magazine section was inaugurated in Circle Library, 11th Avenue, Ashok Nagar last week. According to K. Deenadayalan (Librarian), it has invoked encouraging response. "We have only one terminal to start with and will increase the number depending on the response," he said. He said that visitors need to register once and can read more than 4000 magazines free online. The library has 18000 members and gets around 750 visitors per day. The library was badly damaged during the floods in 2015 and was later renovated.

Deenadayalan said that lakhs of books were destroyed in the floods and the library now has 40000 books in its collection. The library welcomes donation of books in good condition.

It has separate sections for newspaper reading, book reading, children and civil service books. It is open from 8 a.m to 8 p.m on all days except Fridays, 2nd Saturdays and government holidays. More details can be had in 2371 9319 and 98418 82138.

Tailoring, beautician courses for women
